

Note: The value of R1 may need to be adjusted to obtain optimal contrast. However, it should be a good starting place for testing the display.